Speedemissions operates 43 vehicle emissions testing and safety inspection stations under the trade names of Speedemissions and Auto Emissions Express; Mr. Sticker; and Just Emissions. As one of the largest test-only emissions testing and safety inspection companies in the United States, Speedemissions is well positioned in a $2.5 billion market where 87 million vehicles are tested annually on emissions quality.

In 2013, Speedemissions performed nearly a quarter million vehicle emission tests. As company president and CEO Rich Parlontieri explains, serving such a high number of customers is an achievement of growing name recognition and is in alignment with the company's growth plans for the upcoming year.

"Speedemissions is in the middle of an exciting growth stage. To reflect our commitment to continued service and business expansion, we recently revamped our branding, logo and store design. We've also entered into a joint-venture agreement to offer consumers greater convenience and ability to register their motor vehicles," says Parlontieri. "These are just some of our expansion initiatives. By partnering with QualityStocks to raise brand awareness and shareholder communication, we believe we will see measurable results in our company's position in the marketplace as well as in shareholder value. SPMI is excited to partner with QualityStocks and utilize the QualityStocks Newsletter, Video and Blogs as a vehicle to achieve our expansion objectives for 2014."

QualityStocks Managing Director Michael McCarthy stated, "Speedemissions has demonstrated its capabilities of building and maintaining large and loyal customer base. We're confident the company is on pace to achieve its objectives to foster sustainable growth. Speedemissions is a significant addition to the QualityStocks brand and we look forward to utilizing our suite of resources and networks to assist the company in achieving its goals."
